Tabadoul is a mentoring programme & platform designed to connect refugee/migrant women with business aspirations and skills, to the women in the private business sector in Belgium.

It is a universal skill enhancing scheme, tailored for its participants as well as to the local labour market, that facilitates migrant/refugee women access to the private sectors of Belgian economy

The main idea behind this platform is that mentoring – like integration – is never a one-way process; there is always something that both sides can benefit from each other.

However, this is best achieved in a nurturing & stimulating environment.

This is what Tabadoul offers: a combination of tailored support, targeted skill boosting and cultural understanding – all enhanced by high level digital technology, business expertise and the diverse & strong partnership.

Tabadoul is a baby conceived from the passion & commitment of a small group of women to make Europe a better place for refugee/migrant females.

This baby was born by the midwifery of the Digital Leadership Institute (DLII) and is a partner project between Digital African Woman (DAW) & European Network of Migrant Women (ENoMW)

We are starting from Belgium and hope to unroll #Tabadoul to other European countries
